Program:	For My People
5/13/06	00:30:00	Crystal White - Director, Neighborhood Services Organization. Crystal White is the project coordinator for Project Guide, a program with NSO created to assist grandparents raising their grandchildren. Due to the enormous number of parents addicted to drugs, their parents are being forced to come out of retirement, give up their senior citizen housing and find ways to supplement their Social Security Income and pensions to provide care for the grandchildren. Project Guide is created for this purpose providing case management, childcare, transportation, and kinship care. Darlene Williamson- Grandmother, Project Guide. Darlene is a client in project guide a service available thru the Neighborhood Services Organization for grandparents with custody of their grandchildren. Darlene is a recovering stroke victim who had to petition the courts for custody of her daughter's child. Having to raise her 10 year old granddaughter, she realized that there were no State programs available for the biological grandparents but aid for Foster Parents. The guidance of project guide provided supplemental daily needs, emotional support groups, and help to find financial assistance. The transportation via project guide was canceled along with rest pit care. Darlene expressed the need for project guide and the benefits it also provides to her granddaughter such as books, use of the gymnasium, and its sense of security. Marie Glaou - French Teacher, Nsoroma Institute. Marie Glaou is a French Teacher from the Ivory Coast providing African cultural and language. Marie will have a workshop set up Saturday May 13 2006 for the 5th Annual World Language and Cultural Fair in Oak Park, Michigan. The workshop will be unique explaining the common language of Africans being French. She will address the myth about Africans still living in the jungle/bush and their gained political freedom. Her discussion included how France still wants power over Africa. Visitors at the fair will learn African greetings and how their original languages are lost. Lawrence X, Political Analyst, Project BAIT. Mr. X acknowledged brother Malcolm X who would have celebrated a birthday May 19. He discussed China and their unwillingness to interfere with international or internal affairs of other governments. He discussed the Taiwan situation as a mainland political problem with China and the movement and the increasing hostility directed at Obasanjo in a detailed report as a negative for the Obasanjo to run for a third term. David Rambeau, Political Analyst, Project BAIT. Discussed the books of Dr. Seuss and the need to read to children and grandchildren. Compared Seuss' book to the mayor's budget book citing the need for a book list and research sources, the need for consistent graphics and captions. The challenges the designers should undertake for themselves to have an outstanding rather than an incompetent product for residents. Discussed the need for better attribution by the writers of the expanded budget book.

5/27/06	00:12:06	COMMUNITY SERVICE David Rambeau, Political Analyst, Project BAIT. Discussed the Ford Freedom Awards, specifically, and the standards needed for awards in our community, discussed the difference between the I and the We in terms of the value of achievement, and that this is very clear to us in sports, the personal achievement versus the team achievement or championship, the acceptance of that standard in Project BAIT, the aspect of achievement within one's own community as opposed to outside of one's own community, the need to study the history of the industry or craft in evaluating the achievement and the award.
5/27/06	00:11:15	CRIME- PROBLEMS/SOLUTIONS Reverend Charles Williams, Organizer. Mary Church Terrell Community Organization. Discussed the Peace in the Hood Campaign by his community group, Mary Church Terrell Community Organization, their call for 100,000 men to stand up and combat violence in Detroit, their outreach to the churches and pastors in the city, their planned June 10 march on Woodward to galvanize Detroiters to fight violence and confront other issues as well (dope houses, family irresponsibility, etc.), to change the negative image of the community which he alleged is a mistaken perception.
6/3/06	00:10:58	CRIME- PROBLEMS/SOLUTIONS Waymon Mitchell - Photo Journalist, No Organization. Discussed his victimization by the Detroit Police at a crime scene, his alleged arrest for interfering with the police, his shake-down at the station by an officer, the impounding of his car and the fee he had to pay to get his car out of the pound, the absence of a record of his ticket when he went to court, the major inconvenience he suffered through the experience.
6/10/06	00:11:01	CRIME- PROBLEMS/SOLUTIONS David Rambeau, Political Analyst, Project BAIT. Discussed the drug fentanyl, identified as the cause of the recent deaths from heroin and cocaine usage in the Detroit area, as well as the probable causes and details of the drug crisis we endure in America. The legalization of drugs and projected effects on social conditions such as a crime and health are discussed with show host Ron Scott. Mr. Rambeau presents evidence that the negative health effects attributed to marijuana usage by adults is inaccurate. Mr. Rambeau brings out the irony of U.S. supporting drug producing and exporting countries like Afghanistan and some Latin countries while fighting a war on drugs.

6/24/06	00:11:15	RACISM/DISCRIMINATION Linda Parker, Director, Michigan Department of Civil Rights. Discussed the affirmative action petition on the state ballot this fall and the fraudulent securing of signatures by petitioners, the hearings the department held around the state where evidence and testimony was gathered about the deception, the involvement of the board of canvassers and the judicial system in the complaints the petition process generated, the remedies that may be developed through the judicial system, the state legislature and the state attorney general.
4/1/06	00:11:02	EDUCATION Frazier Kimpson - Detroit School Activist, No Organization. Discussed Detroit Police monitoring public schools, the efficacy of this operation, police student relations, the question of whether police should carry guns, the problem with people who loiter around schools and cause violence and chaos, discussed parent training and participation, school-community associations, the new school board and its performance under Dr. Jimmie Womack, curriculum design and state aid loss through student exodus, the competition with charter schools, the need for innovative ideas to recruit students.
4/8/06	00:11:56	EDUCATION Michael Thomas, High School Student, Osborne High. Captain of Debate Team talking to For My People about the Patriot Act, that the Federal Government should not break established constitutional amendments: example 213 illegal drug searching and 215 wire tapping. Five high schools are involved with similar programs. Debate is just as important as sports for students. Teachers are more involved and very helpful with debate club. Other students look up to Michael as a school celebrity.
4/8/06	00:11:28	EDUCATION David Rambeau, Political Analyst, Project BAIT. Discussed the importance of reading, recommended the book, Guns, Germs and Steel by Jared Diamond, the importance of Yali's question about the European possession of more cargo than African people, and the connection of the current plight of young black men to Yali's question, the need to read more than attend events, to have speakers present book lists to the audience.
6/24/06	00:11:49	EMPLOYMENT/LABOR ISSUES Lawrence X, Political Analyst, Project BAIT. Discussed Guinea, the West African nation, and its political history, the current generation strike in the urban areas, the role of the industrial workers, the peasants, farmers, the white collar workers and the military in this economic and political struggle, the potential for a coup d' etat and the crisis of refugees destabilizing the region, the role of outside international financial organizations like the WTO and the IMF in the political stabilization of the nation, the role of subsidies in controlling world commodities and world markets.

4/1/06	00:11:31	FAMILY STRUCTURE/ ISSUES Lawrence X, Political Analyst, Project BAIT. Made his weekly African Report - Discussed the continuing economic problems in Zimbabwe, the conflicting political situation in Liberia around bringing Charles Taylor former president in Liberia to justice for crimes, the challenge of capital flight from Africa because of political corruption and the cut-off of donor aid, the problems facing women because of disease, particularly HIV and AIDS, in Southern Africa, rape, lack of judicial scrutiny, forced marriage, genital mutilation, economic debt through the practice of dowries, the need to confront traditional or historical African social practices.
4/1/06	00:11:08	HOUSING Terrance Keith - Chief Deputy Wayne County Treasurer. Discussed the problem with property taxes throughout the county, the effect of the negative economic conditions, the high rate of mortgage foreclosures, the high property tax rate in Detroit, the threat to black home ownership because of foreclosures and tax delinquency, the burdensome political infrastructure.
4/1/06	00:11:01	POLITICAL ISSUES David Rambeau, Political Analyst, Project BAIT. Discussed mismanagement in this area: George Bush, Matt Millen, Cardinal Maida, Rick Wagoner, the Detroit Police Department, the Detroit Housing Commission, Detroit Public Schools and Mayor Kilpatrick. The mayor's State of the City speech as mismanagement, the public critique of workers, the failure of executives to monitor absenteeism, the failure to plan to meet this crisis, the 30% absenteeism meeting the 1 1/2 days off by police and public works employees, our role in looking at public mismanagement.
4/8/06	00:11:57	POLITICAL ISSUES Lawrence X, Political Analyst, Project BAIT. Discussed World Water Day in the context of water as a human right, in the context of the struggle around affordable water in Detroit, the conflict in Somalia between the Islamicists and the business people and warlords, the continuing conflict in Sudan and now the involvement of the Arab League in underwriting peace-keepers, the Liberian political situation concerning Charles Taylor and President Johnson-Sirleaf.
5/27/06	00:11:26	POLITICAL ISSUES David Rambeau, Political Analyst, Project BAIT. Discussed his critique of the Detroit Executive Budget Summary, the lack of a book list, research, attribution, the inadequate charts and graphs, the lack of proof-reading, the lack of a people orientation, the lack of a solution orientation...the use of dated references, e.g. the 2000 Federal Census, remote references, e.g. SEMCOG, discussed the importance of original research in making scientific decisions as opposed to anecdotal decisions in developing an urban budget and governing a city.

5/27/06	00:11:19	POLITICAL ISSUES Lawrence X, Political Analyst, Project BAIT. Discussed African Liberation Day, 27 May, started by the OAU, its importance in our history and relationship to Africa, discussed the struggle against globalization in the form of the Trans-Atlantic Slave Trade, colonialism and neo-colonialism, discussed the need to study African history to provide the framework for action, along with the Kwanzaa celebration at the end of the year, the need to apply the history and values to our lives, discussed the role of commodity values currently and our need to be involved in the process of commerce, discussed West African political issues in Liberia, Ghana and Nigeria.
6/3/06	00:11:35	POLITICAL ISSUES David Rambeau, Political Analyst, Project BAIT. Discussed Martha Reeves, Detroit Council Person, and her absences from budget hearing because of a singing engagement in Canada, the negative public feedback to her absence, discussed the refusal of council to approve salt mining under Southwest Detroit streets, homes and sidewalks, and the ordinance passed to prevent talking on a cell-phone in Detroit while driving.
6/3/06	00:11:33	POLITICAL ISSUES Lawrence X, Political Analyst, Project BAIT. Discussed the African Diplomatic Corps and the African Union, their positions on what needs to be done on the continent, their need for more discerning analysis of the people in the United States, the organizing of African nations in the U.N. as a power bloc, the coming together of African nations and Asian nations representing people of color world-wide in their efforts to thwart white supremacy.
6/3/06	00:12:02	POLITICAL ISSUES David Rambeau, Political Analyst, Project BAIT. Discussed the re-election of Ray Nagin as mayor in New Orleans, the turnout of the black electorate, the future political and social prospects for blacks in New Orleans, their dispersal around the country and the loss of roots, the move by white reactionaries to make English the national language on a national and state level, the need to study foreign languages to expand one's horizons, the role of the foreign flags and marches in a democratic society.
6/10/06	00:10:11	POLITICAL ISSUES Lawrence X, Political Analyst, Project BAIT. Discussed the political situation in the Democratic Republic of the Congo, the historic role of Belgium, the U.S. in power politics in Africa, discussed the historic massacre in Rwanda, the ethnic groups that flowed across central African borders because of on-going political strife, the role of commodities, gold, diamonds, copper, in the exploitation of Africa by international forces, as well as native political and military elites.

6/10/06	00:11:39	POLITICAL ISSUES David Rambeau, Political Analyst, Project BAIT. Discussed aspects of the Chamber of Commerce's recent "Pancakes and Politics" affair at Mackinaw Island. The reality of cause and Afro-centric effect, or lack of Afro-centric effect, of black women's ascent to positions of power such as police chiefs is explored and discussed with host Ron Scott. Mr. Rambeau shares an idea of electing police chiefs and police officers as well. Discussed the need for more elective officers in Detroit including police commissioners and the deputy mayor. Discussed the anti-affirmative action proposal on the state-wide ballot and the position of the president of the University of Michigan.
4/8/06	00:11:45	PUBLIC AWARENESS David Rambeau, Political Analyst, Project BAIT. Discussed the transfer of the zoo to the Detroit Zoological Society (DZS), the historical museum and the Dossin Museum to the Detroit Historical Society, the think-tank in Ann Arbor and ideas as to what should be done, for example, the DZS needs to plan to reopen the Belle Isle Zoo and the Belle Isle Aquarium, the real estate market in Northville as a function of the down-turn in the auto industry and a comparison with the city of Detroit, as well as the for sale signs on Grosse Pointe lawns.

4/15/06	00:60:00	PUBLIC AWARENESS 00:12:06 - Closing streets in Indian Village, David Rambeau, Political Analyst, Project BAIT. Discussed the four black and white residents of Indian Village addressing the City Council to propose closing three Indian Village residential streets out of 34. This proposal has the support of Ken Kople and one City Council member showed real concern regarding security issues for closing three streets. This is a modest proposal from residents of Indian Village and a representative to approve the street closings states that a solution would be forthcoming in three or four months. The residents suggested large cement pots with plants at the end of each street to be closed as a solution. 00:11:55 - Lawrence X Political Analyst, Project BAIT. Discussed issues in Africa about Martin Brown, Melvin Foot, and Charles Taylor's work to improve situations in Africa. These are the people responsible for the Democratic National Committee raising awareness and blacks position in foreign policy. The Africans have started to come together in conference to deal with issues such as the collapse of commodities and health care in rural areas. Zambia is a frontline state struggling against the British regarding the debt relief aid organization. 00:09:05 - David Rambeau - Political Analyst, Project BAIT. Discussed McKenzie High School walkout. The students at McKenzie High School exercised their Civil Rights with a peaceful demonstration protesting legitimate school conditions and concerns. Their efforts instead of being applauded was received negatively by Chief of Police Ella Bully-Cummings with a threat to ticket parents and students. However there were no repercussions from city officials when City Employees had a similar protest that was a violation of a city ordinance for city employees. It appears that the first amendment rights is granted to City Workers but not the McKenzie High School students when challenging the conditions of their public school. Only six City Council members felt enough concern regarding the student protest, showed up to address the issues. 00:11:10 - David Rambeau, Political Analyst, Project BAIT. Discussed Darwin's Nightmare. Darwin's Nightmare is a documentary film about Lake Victoria and the downfall of Tanzanians. Outside countries, Russia, Asia and Japan practice capitalism and are shown destroying the countries lively hood by exploiting the lake's resources to use as a delicacy elsewhere. These outsiders from Russia, Asia and Japan show up to achieve personal gain overlooking the AIDS crisis present with natives and they prostitute the women. The Africans of this area survive on what's thrown away, and maggot ridden or spoiled waste non useable for export. Lake Victoria is a fishery port that should be capable of providing for its residents but everything looks sickly and malnourished.

4/22/06	00:60:00	PUBLIC AWARENESS David Rambeau, Political Analyst, Project BAIT. Discussed City name change for Harper Woods. As throughout history, geographic locations have identified where classes of people reside. Usually it is based on race and class. The three metropolitan concepts refer to the location of class in Detroit by Pointes, Heights, and Hills. The residents of Harper Woods have decided that the Northern end should be separated and called Harper Woods Pointe or merge with Grosse Pointe. The suburban areas insurance on property and auto rates are better than residents of the City of Detroit. Therefore the most reasonable suggestion for the Harper Woods city name change falls under race. Lawrence X, Political Analyst, Project BAIT. Discussed the political situation in Nigeria with the president, Obasanjo feuding with the vice-president and the potential split this may cause in their political party with repercussions throughout the nation. Their argument is over a third term for the president. In Liberia the conflict continues over Charles Taylor, former president and dictator, and the movement to put him on trial for crimes against humanity. Finally there was discussion about health problems on the African continent and the need for the World Health Organization (WHO) of the United Nations to work more intensely to alleviate some of the chronic health problems in many of the countries most in need. David Rambeau, Political Analyst, Project BAIT. Discussed Immigrants in America. The majority has set the focus on the Latin/Mexican immigrants who are in America illegally. This removes the black minority from the forefront of direct oppression temporarily. There is limited funding available and limited resources to spread for the minorities the white power structure for oppressing people has targeted the Latin/Mexican illegal immigrants lending the belief that they will get more by legalizing these aliens. The redirection of focus forces blacks to identify their place in the multicultural society. David Rambeau, Political Analyst, Project BAIT. Discussed the immigration struggle for African World point of view. The treatment of people of color is focused on the illegal aliens in California and other border connected states. The blacks have elevated and the lesser jobs being performed by Latinos legal and otherwise is projected as slave labor. However, the brown minority is content temporarily to accept these positions and the whites get their cheap labor. The view that the Latin/Mexican people are taking back their rights to be in America and white politicians are trying to aid them. Point in case, whites are immigrants too.

4/29/06	00:60:00	PUBLIC AWARENESS Derrick Hale, Political Candidate, Committee to Elect Derrick Hale, State Senator. Discussed his previous experience in state government as a State Legislator, as well as his experience in the community working on community projects including working with the police-community relations group in his district, his youth projects which included provident books and other resources for youth, and his focus issues: education, taxes and crime. Lawrence X, Political Analyst, Project BAIT. Discussed the World Health Organization, WHO, or the United Nations and mental health in Africa, focusing on Robert Mugabe, the president of Zimbabwe, who is that nation's current dictator for the past 26 years and the terrible performance of his long-term administration, discussed the continued move by Nigeria's president, Obasanjo, for a third terms, a behavior that is also being practiced by President Deby of Chad, who is facing a conflict with neighbors, the Sudan and Libya. David Rambeau, Political Analyst, Project BAIT. Discussed his analysis of the Detroit Mayor's budget address to the city council, comparing his analysis with those of other political commentators, asserting that the mayor's presentation was an embarrassment, that Irv Corley, Director of the Fiscal Analysis Division of Detroit also criticized the mayor's budget, discussed the lack of research, a book-list, graphs and charts and that without these the council should have returned the budget back to the mayor for further work. David Rambeau, Political Analyst, Project BAIT. Discussed more on the mayor's budget, focusing on the city's use and understanding of technology and the failure to manage personnel and technology correctly, discussed the overpayment of department heads who fail to manage properly and therefore the need to cut their salaries to match their competency.

Accompanied the two dancers, Abena Niari Bandale and Carla Washington to the For My People interview. Abena Niari Bandale, Nsoroma Institute. Student dancer at Nsoroma Institute discussed the trip abroad with Ron Scott. They are planning to visit Students in Uganda and other East African cities. Abena and other dancers from the school have solicited community support for their upcoming trip in 2007 and their mission is to provide aide to the children of war in central East Africa. Carla Washington, Nsoroma Institute. Carla is another dancer from the Nsoroma Institute talking to Ron Scott about the motivation of dancing that lead to a desire to meet with African children abroad who are a part of war in Africa. She emphasized the organizing efforts the dance group went out into the community to gather and gain support for their cause and trip coming up to Africa in 2007. Lawrence X, Political Analyst. Project BAIT. Discussed Sierra Leone and the wanted Charles Taylor refusal of Denmark, Sweden, and Austria to bring him to court in any of the aforementioned places. He also talked to Ron Scott about the Nigeria and the world oil pop up in terms of Nigeria whether it is good or bad news. It was discussed that China is now a force to be reckoned with regarding oil holding abroad and in America. The conversation ended discussing the affairs of the Solomon Island. David Rambeau, Political Analyst. Discussed with Ron Scott the capabilities of our elected officials in Detroit. The lack of our cities mayor to budget the projected physical year's finances is in question. The leadership of Detroit is often in the media appearing incapable of handling the concerns of the city.

5/20/06	00:30:00	PUBLIC AWARENESS Leon Drew, President, Project Greater Needs. Leon Drew teaches tennis and has expanded his teaching to include mentorship and tutoring. The girls in project greater needs have a 0 percent pregnancy rate. Leon was drafted to assist Cass Tech High School student tennis team and started project greater needs. His success in the community has reached suburban areas, and professionals outside the city are bringing their children to be a part of his program. Tennis is very expensive and contributors from richer communities provide free racquets, tennis balls. The group needs a building in Detroit to aide in expanding its community service. The program is looking for a building to continue this positive program for Detroit inner-city youth. Kelly Harris, Tennis Player, High School Student, Cass Tech High School Tennis Captain. Kelly Harris shared the benefits she received from being a member of Project Greater Needs. The impact of joining Project Greater Needs has developed her ability to interact with people, built up her confidence to deal with different personalities. Kelly started playing tennis when she was nine years old and met Leon Drew, President of Project greater needs, while playing for Cass Tech's tennis team. She said, because of project members too, she is surrounded with positive people and although there are only fifty members ranging from six years old and up, the program will soon grow and prepare kids with more than just tennis skills. Helen Moore, Director. Keep the Vote, No Take-Over, Community Organizations. Helen Moore is a developer for the organization, Keep the vote, no take group that worked against Proposal E in the last Detroit election. The defeat of Proposal E restored the election of the Detroit School Board to the voters of Detroit. There is a split in the organizations between Keep the Vote and Call 'Em Out due in some respect to political activities board members who oppose her organizations positions on school issues, and how the current school board members think she should give up her advocacy and refrain from school activism with the Detroit Board of Education on community issues. Lawrence X - Political Analyst, Project BAIT. His African Report discussed the 2009 election in South Africa. The three parties: the African National Conference, Communist Party and Trade Unions each have separate opinions on elections in South Africa as well as on other political and economic issues. And the Liberia controversy also surrounds the issue of the Charles Taylor trial for war crimes while he was president and dictator in Liberia. X indicated that news reports feel the United States is siding with the warlord alliance in Somalia versus Islamic court group, two political action groups vying for power in Somalia, an East African nation. Finally X discussed a website for information via these concerns called sudanwatch.blog.com. David Rambeau, Political Analyst, Project BAIT. Discussed Detroit

Also discussed the lack of research, a booklist and intense discussion during the budget hearings, that Detroit is poorly served by the current process. Also discussed was the failure of the Detroit Fiscal Analysis Division and the Detroit Auditor General's office to provide printed materials on the budget to citizen organizations so they can have informed input into the budget process.
6/10/06	00:11:52	PUBLIC AWARENESS David Rambeau, Political Analyst, Project BAIT. Discussed the deconstruction of Detroit with the detachment of the Eastern Market from city control, along with the DIA, the museums and the zoo. The continued interest in taking over the river-front, the downtown and the water system. All of these represent Euro-centric cultural and economic interests. In addition the executive branch wants to turnover the bus system to a regional entity. However, there is still a need to protect and watch urban financial interests in the institutions in spite of their detachment from city government control. Discussed the role of land bank legislation in the take-over of Detroit.

6/17/06	00:60:00	PUBLIC AWARENESS Bankole Thomas - Journalist for Detroit Citizen and Author of "Ignoring the Underprivileged". Mr. Thompson outlines his new book and also presents his opinion of "Mainstream Media". He cites instances and examples of what he calls evidence of its indifference in its coverage of issues that affect the underprivileged. Local media is criticized for its insensitivity and disinterest in covering the reality of homelessness and the water shut-offs in the City of Detroit. He and talk show host Ron Scott discuss the irony of his definition of "mainstream". The author cites Media coverage of Hurricane Katrina among examples of "Mainstream Media's" lack of interest in exposing the true nature of the plight of the poor in this country. David Rambeau - Political Analyst Project BAIT. David Rambeau does a commentary on the recent media "attack" on Martha Reeves. He describes the Media reports in regard to the unkempt conditions of properties owned by the Council woman as overkill and her apology as a weak defense strategy. Mr. Rambeau suggests that the conditions of Ms. Reeve's properties are actually good for the environment and goes on to explain in detail how so. He states that an ironic condition arises from city lots being unattended: that the overgrowth actually eventually creates an effect not unlike suburban wooded lots. A plan is outlined for handling the abandoned and unattended properties problem in the City of Detroit during continued conversation with Show host Ron Scott. Lawrence X-Journalists Against Genocide. Mr. X presents commentary on some economic aspects related to past and present conditions on the African Continent. He intermingles an essay on "Extraction" within his report and relates both to brothers and sisters in the Diaspora. Jenny Lee - A Program Coordinator for 'Detroit Summer' Program. Ms. Lee describes the Detroit Summer Program as a multiracial, intergenerational, youth movement whose goal is to rebuild and respirit Detroit from the ground up and whose objective is to foster youth initiative through community beautification projects, envisioning workshops, and intergenerational dialogues. She gives a brief history of the organization and reasons for its inception. Nandi Comer - A Program Coordinator for the "Detroit Summer" Program. Ms. Comer presents details of some of the programs sponsored by 'Detroit Summer' with the cooperation of other organizations and individuals. She mentions the names of some of these individuals and organizations along with descriptions of how they interact and cooperate with 'Detroit Summer'. Ms. Comer expresses the organizations' concern about the local educational system, its relationship to the drop-out rate and what "direct action" their program plans to take.

6/18/06	00:30:00	RACISM/DISCRIMINATION Born out of the riots that impacted our City in the late 60's, the organization known as New Detroit has reengineered and reshaped its image several times over the last four decades. Yet, through it all, a focus on race relations has remained. On Sunday, June 18 Carol Cain will chat with its current President, Shirley Stancato, about the organization's goals and objectives and, get an update on all they are working on. Plus, Brooks Patterson, Denise Ilitch and Derrick Miller join host Carol Cain on the Roundtable and Final Viewpoint segments.
4/9/06	00:30:00	POLITICAL ISSUES On the morning of March 31, Detroit Mayor Kwame Kilpatrick and Michigan Matters own Brooks Patterson, the Oakland County Executive, sat down in front of an overflow crowd of corporate and community leaders at the Detroit Athletic Club in a special series founded by the Michigan Chronicle entitled "Pancakes and Politics." For over an hour, the two men discussed the topics of regionalism, race relations, and the economy in an entertaining but extremely informative format. Sunday, we'll present Part One of that discussion. It's the engaging and introspective sides of Kilpatrick and Patterson, this week on Michigan Matters.
4/23/06	00:30:00	POLITICAL ISSUES Join Carol Cain for Part II of The Michigan Chronicle's "Pancakes and Politics" forum with Kwame Kilpatrick and L. Brooks Patterson.
4/30/06	00:30:00	POLITICAL ISSUES In a special encore presentation of part one of the Michigan Chronicle's "Pancakes and Politics" series, Carol Cain discusses race, regionalism and the economy with Detroit Mayor Kwame Kilpatrick and Oakland County Executive L. Brooks Patterson.
5/7/06	00:30:00	POLITICAL ISSUES Governor Jennifer Granholm joins host Carol Cain for the second in the Michigan Chronicle's "Pancakes and Politics" forum series. Before a standing room only crowd at the Detroit Athletic Club last week, Governor Granholm offered her thoughts about the economy, Detroit Mayor Kwame Kilpatrick, the region and what's ahead in the governor's race... and the Michigan Matters crew was there to videotape the event.
5/21/06	00:30:00	POLITICAL ISSUES Today marks the return of a Michigan Matters regular to our set with the appearance of Wayne County Executive Bob Ficano. From his own financial book balancing issues, to his thoughts on politics, to issues in and around our region, we'll chat with the County Executive about what faces his constituents and the area as 2006 slowly rolls from a wet spring into summer. Plus, Brooks Patterson, Denise Ilitch and Derrick Miller join Carol Cain on the Roundtable and Final Viewpoint segments.

6/25/06	00:30:00	TRANSPORTATION/ROAD PROBLEMS
		The biggest news to come out of the Detroit Regional Chamber's recent Leadership Policy Conference on Mackinac was the surprise announcement of John Hertel as the region's new transportation czar. Could we finally be making progress in the never ending discussion on mass transit? Or, is this just another bureaucratic move by our area's leaders? John Hertel is with us on Sunday, June 25 to tell us why he changed his life around to tackle this important challenge. Plus, Brooks Patterson, Denise Ilitch and Derrick Miller join host Carol Cain on the Roundtable and Final Viewpoint segments.
